1. Before the war the Danubia Company of Budapest manufactured, rifles, pistol, some machine guns, and clockwork time fuses.
2. After the war the entire factory was switched over to mass production of cheap alarm clocks under the general supervision of the Ganz Company.
3. In March this year the Ganz Company was informed that their supervision was no longer necessary.
4. It is believed that this factory is now making clockwork time fuses once more and this is the reason why the services of the Ganz Firm were so suddenly dispensed with.
